Assistant Professor, Poetry (Tenure-Track)

University of the South

Sewanee, TN

Apply Now

Type: Full-Time

Salary: Depends on Qualifications

Posted: 09/16/2025

Category: English and Literature

Position Overview

The Department of English & Creative Writing seeks applications for a tenure-track position in Poetry at the Assistant Professor rank. Applicants are expected to have an M.F.A. or Ph.D. in hand for the beginning of the 2026-27 academic year.

The English and Creative Writing Department has recently initiated a major in Creative Writing (in addition to a Creative Writing Certificate). Poetry is a track in that major, and includes courses within both English and Creative Writing. This major brings to our undergraduates the long creative tradition at Sewanee, including The Sewanee Review, The Sewanee Writers' Conference, and the Sewanee School of Letters

Position Description

The teaching load for this position is five courses per year, with a one-course reduction each year for the first two years. The successful candidate will teach Introductory, Intermediate, and Advanced Poetry, Forms of Poetry, serve as a faculty advisor for capstone projects in Poetry, and may, on occasion, teach introductory courses in English. Candidates should have a strong publication record (a published collection or several publications in national journals and magazines) and teaching expertise in the genre. The successful candidate should also show evidence of inclusive and effective teaching practices and approach the creative process with attention to diversity, equity, community, and social justice. We seek a candidate who understands and embraces the unique nature of a workshop, which brings people together from diverse backgrounds to generate and discuss personal creative work in a supportive environment.

The English and Creative Writing Department is committed to offering mentorship and support for faculty at every level of employment. We are committed to increasing the diversity of our departments and our campus by seeking talented teachers, researchers, and artists of varied identities, backgrounds, and experiences. We expect all faculty to contribute to creating an inclusive and just intellectual and creative community.

Study, Check, Reflect

Attributes of a Successful Candidate

For preliminary review;

Applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a writing sample (up to fifteen pages). In this initial round, applicants should describe their approach to teaching undergraduate workshops.

Additional materials, including graduate transcripts and letters of recommendation, will be required for a second round.

Materials will be reviewed by a committee that includes English Literature and Creative Writing faculty.

I bring to this position the experience and confidence of someone who has been in a teaching or administrative role for many years, but I also have a willingness and desire to learn from others and explore new challenges on the tenure track. I can offer the department and your students one-on-one advising skills, knowledge and application of pedagogy and andragogy, writing and communication skills, research skills, a relationship-rich coaching demeanor, a strong work ethic, a team mindset, and an ability to work independently. Above all, I care deeply about students and look forward to the chance to help them succeed. Thank you for your consideration.
